

Brian Bedard named President/CEO at Elim Park

Cheshire, CT, September 28, 2017 - The Elim Park Baptist Home Board Chair, Chris Nelson, recently announced the appointment of Brian Bedard as the new CEO/President at Elim Park. Nelson stated that “the Board has been engaged in a year long, nation-wide search for a new CEO following the announcement by Ron Dischinger, current CEO/President, that he would retire in 2017.” Terry Brennan, who chaired the Board’s Search Committee, noted that “Dischinger has been with Elim Park for the past 40 years, 15 years as the Chief Executive Officer, and has helped Elim Park grow from a small nursing home to the premier retirement community in the greater New Haven region.”

Dischinger stated, “As a faith-based organization with a strong commitment to our mission, Mr. Bedard is uniquely qualified to lead Elim Park.” Bedard has 25 years of executive management experience in the health care field, specifically as the Chief Operating Officer for a large consortium of health care facilities in CT. Presently he is COO and part owner of the Lutheran Home of Southbury CT.

Bedard assumes his new role October 9th. A Retirement/Installation event is planned for November 2 at Elim Park.
